Ballotpedia's scorecard project is a nonpartisan ranking tool for voters to find information about the legislators in public positions. Because it covers a wide range of issues, it is a useful tool for voters who want to know how their representatives vote on issues they find important. Ballotpedia's scorecard project also covers elections, where a legislator's voting record on one issue while a state newspaper's scorecard may be important to voters in one district may be less important in another.

Ballotpedia's is the only source of scorecards for state legislators, state executives, and state judges. Ballotpedia's scorecard project covers all of state government, including state executives, state legislators, and state judges. Ballotpedia's goal is to incorporate all available scorecards and rankings into our scorecard project.
