Scorecards

See also State legislative scorecards and State legislative scorecards in New York

A scorecard evaluates a legislator's voting record. Its purpose is to inform voters about the legislator's political positions. Because scorecards have varying purposes and methodologies, each report should be considered independently. Some groups, such as interest groups, may use a legislator's voting record to support a claim that he or she is more or less liberal or conservative, or may evaluate the voting record in the similarity.

Ballotpedia is in the process of developing an encyclopedic list of published scorecards. Some states have a limited number of available scorecards or scorecards produced only by select groups. It is Ballotpedia's goal to incorporate all scorecards produced by organizations regardless of ideology or number.

Click here for an overview of legislative scorecards in all 50 states. To contribute to the list of New York scorecards, email suggestions to uc@ballotpedia.org.
