Scorecards

A scorecard evaluates a legislator's voting record. Its purpose is to inform voters about the legislator's political positions. Because a scorecard may be a complex and methodological report, it may not be completed on its own merits. For example, an advocacy group's scorecard may assess a legislator's voting record on one issue while a state newspaper's scorecard may evaluate the voting record in its entirety.

Ballotpedia is in the process of developing an encyclopedia of published scorecards. Some states have a limited number of scorecards available, while others have scorecards only to select groups. It is Ballotpedia's goal to incorporate all available scorecards into its encyclopedia.

NDPC: North Dakota Legislative Review

See also: North Dakota Policy Council Legislative Review (2015)

The North Dakota Policy Council, a North Dakota-based nonprofit research organization which describes itself as "liberty based", published the North Dakota Legislative Review, a comprehensive report on how state legislators voted during the 2015 legislative session. The scorecard seeks to show how North Dakota legislators voted on the issues they believe were important to the state. The report covers issues involving taxation, spending, government ethics, and essential functions of government. Bills issues rated were included income tax cuts, personal income, and government transparency. On spending legislation, the Council scrutinized a percentage based on how much spending the legislature was proposing to cut from the state budget. The Council also rated bills based on how they affected the state income tax rate, the legislature's stated intent in favor of the values supported by the Council.[8] Schalble received a score of 55.82% on policy legislation and voted against 20.29% of state spending. On policy, Schalble was ranked 8th and on spending we ranked 19th out of 54 Senate members evaluated for the study.[9]
